

EXAMPLE RECRUITMENT LETTER

Dear xxxxx:

Think about studying literature in Ireland in 2006. I will be teaching a two-week Irish literature class in Ireland in May of 2006. The class, entitled "Irish Literature: Poetry, Politics, and Protest," will include visits to places associated with writers such as Jonathan Swift, William Butler Yeats, and James Joyce. We will be based in Dublin but will have three days in Galway. The dates of the study-tour are May 18-June 2, 2006.

The class carries three semester hours of credit and counts towards an English major or minor. Financial aid is available.

For more information, contact Dr. Flynn (745-5759 or james.flynn@wku.edu).

The cost of the program has not been established for 2006, but the cost in 2005 was $2945. This includes roundtrip airfare, airport transport in Ireland, health insurance, accommodations, breakfasts, some other meals, city bus/rail pass for Dublin, and some excursions.
