

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Seeking proposals for presentations for the 2014 Campus Community Partnerships for Sustainability conference, hosted this year at Western Kentucky University November 14th - 16th.

This year's theme is The Sustainability Roadshow - showcasing the best of the best. We invite you to bring the best sustainability practices in Kentucky higher education to share and inspire.

Presentation guidelines/suggestions:

We are looking for presentations that are engaging, and that describe new and innovative initiatives that should and can be implemented by others in higher education. Tell us what worked, how it worked, and why it worked! And if possible, give us the tools to do it at our respective campuses. Proposals from faculty, staff, and students are welcome.

Possible topics we think would be awesome:

- Best ways to mobilize students.
- Best use of technology and/or social media.
- Best community research projects.
- Best lessons learned.
- Best faculty/staff engagement.
- Best way to finance sustainability on shoestring budget.
- Best way to communicate with your campus leaders.
- Best zero waste or carbon neutral events.

Best campus community collaborations.

- Your identified best practice that you want to share!

Length: One hour. Please build in time for Q and A within this time frame. Presenters can be individuals, teams, or even panels. If more than one person, please include names of all presenters.

Please submit presentation title, abstract, and intended presentation format (individual, panel discussion, workshop, etc.) to sustainability@wku.edu no later than September 8, 2014.
