What we do—

Writers need feedback from readers to help refine their writing. The Writing Center can give you this feedback. Our tutors will talk with you about your writing to help you:

- brainstorm ideas
- clarify main points
- strengthen logic and support
- integrate sources and credit them properly
- smooth out organization
- fine-tune sentence style
- learn to proofread

Because we want to help you become a better writer, we won't edit or proofread your paper for you. We will help you learn to revise and edit so you will be better able to catch your own errors and improve your own content, organization, and style. Visit our website for a video tour to let you know what to expect: (www.wku.edu/writingcenter).

Now you can schedule your appointments online—

A link to the appointment scheduler is available on our website: <http://www.wku.edu/writingcenter> . There you can also find instructions on using the scheduler and a video tutorial about the scheduler software. Call our Cherry Hall location (745-5719) during our operating hours if you have any questions or would prefer to schedule your appointment by phone.

Get response to your paper online —

If you can't get to our locations when we're open, you can get feedback on your writing by email. We won't proofread your entire paper for you by email; we will only mark and explain the errors in a sample portion of your paper and highlight them in the remainder so you can learn to correct them on your own. The feedback will include an audio explanation of the tutor's suggestions as well as written comments. Ideally, getting feedback on clarity of purpose, organization, and support should come before you move on to proofreading concerns. Find a form and instructions for submitting papers online on our website: www.wku.edu/writingcenter .
