

12TH ANNUAL JOHN B. GAINES FAMILY LECTURE SERIES

Covering Your City:

Why Investigative Reporting is Most Important at the Local Level

Nikita Stewart

WKU SJ&B Alumna and
New York Times Investigative Reporter

Stewart is a reporter for the Metro section of the New York Times, where she covers social services with a focus on New York City Hall and homelessness. Prior to joining the Times, she worked at the Washington Post for more than nine years covering D.C. City Hall and writing for the investigative team.
