Role of Title IX Coordinator

The Title IX Coordinator, located in the office of the General Counsel, is responsible for overseeing investigations related to complaints of sexual misconduct/assault under this policy. The Title IX Coordinator will also monitor the response of other campus offices involved in sexual misconduct/assault complaints, and review responses to complaints of retaliation connected to the reporting or filing of a complaint covered by the Title IX Sexual Misconduct/Assault Policy #0.2070. ## Title IX Policy Overview

- Western Kentucky University (WKU) prohibits sexual misconduct/assault in any educational programs and activities or employment situations.
- The sexual misconduct/assault policy applies to all WKU operations and programs located on the main campus and all regional campuses.
- The sexual misconduct/assault policy establishes a process for determining when sexual misconduct/assault has occurred. It also authorizes the University to take actions to proactively stop the conduct, remediate its effects, and provide information related to sexual misconduct/assault.
- Any person who believes they have been harmed by conduct prohibited by the sexual misconduct/assault policy may file a complaint with the EEO office.
- Any person has a right to file a complaint anonymously, but it may make it more difficult for WKU to fully investigate and address the misconduct. Employees are required to report sexual misconduct/assault.
- Third parties may file a complaint on behalf of a person whom they believe has been adversely affected by conduct prohibited by this policy.
- Sexual misconduct/assault includes sexual harassment and sexual violence prohibited by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (as amended), Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and Kentucky Revised Statute 510.140.

Investigation

Western Kentucky University is required by law and University policy to investigate good faith complaints of sexual misconduct/assault. The responsibility to investigate and ensure a fair, effective, and comprehensive response to complaints has been charged to the Title IX Coordinator. The University's goal is to determine if the policy against sexual misconduct/assault was violated and if so, how to protect each individual effected, and prevent further sexual misconduct/assault. Common steps in an investigation include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Interview the individual who files a complaint (known as the "Reporting Party");
2. Determine if there is a duty to investigate;
3. If there is a duty to investigate, the Title IX Coordinator and/or investigators will interview the person(s) alleged to have engaged in sexual misconduct (known as the "Responding Party"). The Title IX Coordinator will also interview people who have first-hand knowledge of what is alleged to have happened, and what the direct effects may have been on the person(s) affected by the alleged conduct;
4. The investigator will issue a final report that summarizes the investigation, discloses facts about the situation, and identifies corrective measures;
5. The Title IX Coordinator and/or investigators will seek assistance from academic or administrative offices, supervisors, faculty, and other student services as needed to ensure implementation of corrective measures.
