

Read. Write. Teach.

Masters in English

Strengthen your writing skills and advance your career with a Master of Arts in English. The MA program offers a comprehensive curriculum that prepares students for careers in teaching, for continuing graduate work toward a Ph.D. in English, and for other careers like editing and publishing or technical and professional writing.

Teach College English

In the MA program you'll start gaining experience as soon as you step on campus. In your first year you will work in The Writing Center, tutoring students from a variety of academic backgrounds. You will also work closely with a faculty mentor to develop a strong approach to teaching writing. In your second year you will enter the classroom fully equipped with essential lessons and teaching strategies for teaching writing at the college level.

For More Information Contact

Dr. Wes Berry , Professor and Graduate Advisor
wes.berry@wku.edu

Courses Include

- Graduate Rhetoric and Writing
- Literature and Pedagogy
- Teaching English as a Second Language
- Linguistics

