

The major in film at WKU is designed to meet the goals of a strong liberal arts education. Students are required to take classes that emphasize writing skills, critical thinking, and analytical tools beyond the hands-on skills that will make them well committed to international reach.

Recent WKU film graduates have also found employment in public relations, theater arts,

- professional and commercial publication
- screenwriting
- music video production

• film and television production and post-production

What Can I Do with My Degree in Film?

Major in Film

School of Broadcasting & Journalism

For more information

WKU School of Journalism & Broadcasting
216 Mass Media & Technology Hall
Western Kentucky University
1906 College Heights Blvd. #11070
Bowling Green, KY 42101-1070

phone: (270) 745-4144
website: www.wku.edu/film

Western Kentucky University is an equal opportunity institution of higher education and upon request provides reasonable accommodation to individuals with disabilities. www.wku.edu/eoo

A LEADING AMERICAN UNIVERSITY WITH INTERNATIONAL REACH

Major in Film

School of Broadcasting & Journalism

POTTER COLLEGE OF ARTS AND LETTERS

Far more than entertainment, film is a medium that brings people together, and connects us on an emotional level. It speaks across cultures and shared stories. It is art that brings people, ideas and technology together, and connects us to the media. Courses in film history, theory and technique enable students to become active, selective, and ethical participants in a world dominated by the media. The major in film at WKU offers a minor in higher education and communication, as well as the practical skills to produce their own films. WKU is the only institution of higher education that offers a minor in film. WKU is a recognized leader in a variety of disciplines, including English, broadcasting, theater, and anthropology, the major work in a variety of disciplines, including English, broadcasting, theater, and anthropology, the major features a strong interdisciplinary approach to the study of cinema. Students will learn from faculty who are experienced industry professionals and who are recognized scholars of film studies.

WKU MAJOR IN FILM

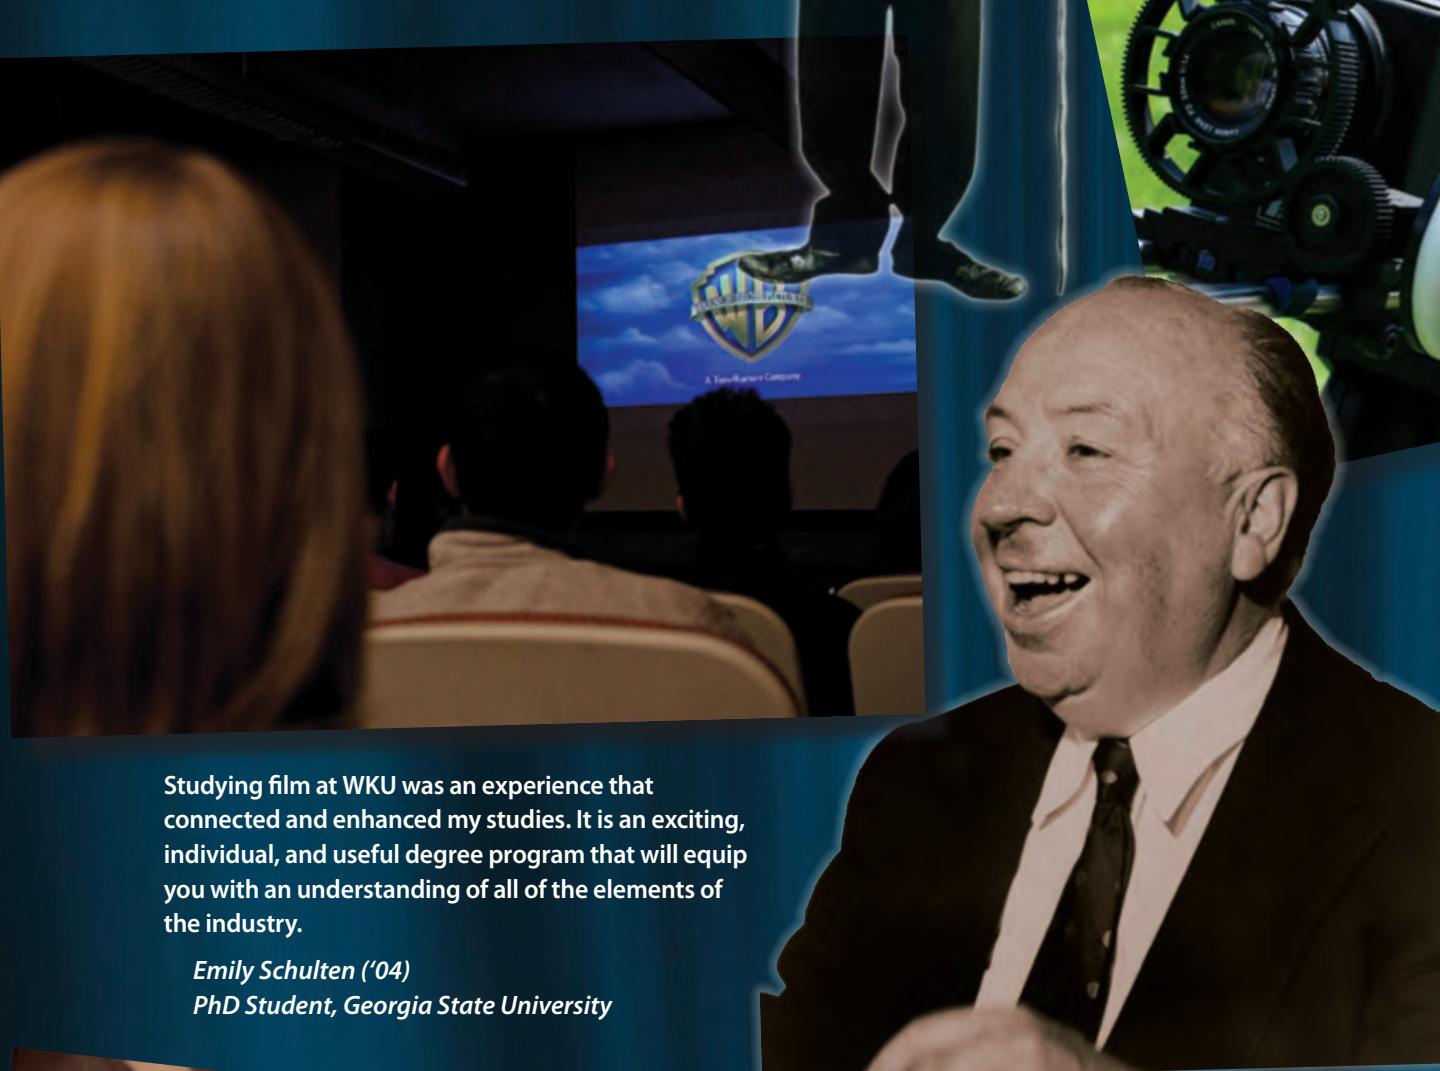

My experience in WKU's film studies program prepared me well for a Master's degree in media studies at MIT and a career that affords me the opportunity to both publish writing about media and entertainment and to apply many of these lessons toward strategies that challenge and transform the work of marketers and corporate communicators.

*Sam Ford ('05)
Director of Digital Strategy,
Peppercom Strategic Communications*

Just when you think you have everything figured out, the power of film manages to rattle your world again and again. Never has there been an art form that wields as much influence as film. It educates and entertains us as well as makes us both vulnerable and empowered. The humanity it holds in each frame ultimately makes the audience more human.

*Bradley Morgan ('10)
Production Assistant for CMT and for the feature film "Beyond"*

Studying film at WKU was an experience that connected and enhanced my studies. It is an exciting, individual, and useful degree program that will equip you with an understanding of all of the elements of the industry.

*Emily Schulten ('04)
PhD Student, Georgia State University*

Cinema is the history of ourselves being made again and again. Studying the interaction of the cinematic and the human was the greatest academic reward I ever received. It opened my eyes.

*Emmett Barton ('07)
Creative Lead, Somnio Solutions, Austin, TX*

Major in Film
WKU School of Journalism & Broadcasting
216 Mass Media & Technology Hall
Western Kentucky University
1906 College Heights Blvd.
Bowling Green, KY 42101

Phone: (270) 745-4144
Email: stephen.white@wku.edu
ted.hovet@wku.edu

Visit us online at:
www.wku.edu/film

