Hallie Karson Slocum of Bowling Green will compete in the 2024 Miss Kentucky Competition June 12-15 at SKyPAC.

She currently holds the title of Miss Corvette City and is the 22-year-old daughter of Rich and Angie Slocum.

She is a senior at Western Kentucky University studying corporate and organizational communications and musical theatre.

After graduation, she would like to perform professionally and/or work in pharmaceutical sales.

For the talent portion of the competition, Slocum will give a vocal performance.

In pursuit to helping foster families and children in the foster care system, she uses her community service initiative “Fostering Love” to educate others, provide support and show love to the foster care community.
