

Good Morning NARCH and INBRE communities,

I wanted to let everyone know that we will not be conducting our annual NIH Visit Week program this summer. With the current COVID-19 pandemic, all NIH student summer programs have been cancelled. I had been holding off announcing this as I was hoping things would be a bit better and we could potentially shoot for a later date during the summer, but this is not the case. So with sadness, as I so enjoy this program every summer, I am letting you know we will not have a call for student applications for the NIH Visit Week.

I hope that we can eventually return to normalcy and re-start the program for next summer.

Please stay safe and well.

Best,
Sheila

Sheila A. Caldwell, PhD
Program Director
Division for Research Capacity Building
NIGMS
NIH

Coronavirus Disease 2019 \(COVID-19\): Information for NIH Applicants and Recipients
<https://www.nih.gov/health-information/coronavirus>