Proposal to Create a Temporary Course
(Information Item)

Contact Person: Gail Kirby  gail.kirby@wku.edu  745-3746

1. Identification of proposed course
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: SPED 595
   1.2 Course title: Advanced Preparation Capstone for Special Education
   1.3 Abbreviated course title: Advanced Prep Cap SPED
   1.4 Credit hours: 3
   1.5 Schedule type: N
   1.6 Prerequisites: Passing score on required Praxis II exams for appropriate Kentucky certification prior to enrolling. By instructor permission only.
   1.7 Course description:

       A capstone course in the SPED program for advanced candidates seeking an additional teacher certification area. Practice in implementing instructional skills and procedures. Field observation hours required.

2. Rationale
   2.1 Reason for offering this course on a temporary basis:

       Currently, all graduate students in the SPED program, both initial certification and advanced certification, take EXED 590- Advanced Internship in Special Education. Kentucky’s Education Professional Standards Board (EPSB) has set new guidelines for initial certification of teachers effective September, 2012. These guidelines include specific demands for initial certification students in a supervised field placement with specific parameters that are appropriate for the current course, EXED 590. Those parameters are not appropriate for the advanced candidate who has already served a student teaching experience and is already qualified to teach. The needs of these two groups of students are significantly different enough to warrant a separation of the two. To meet advanced students’ needs, the proposed course, SPED 595-Advanced Preparation Capstone for Learning and Behavior Disorders, has been developed. This temporary course would allow faculty to meet the EPSB effective dates of Fall 2012.

   2.2 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other academic units:

       Other programs have capstone courses, but none will meet the needs of advanced students in the content area of learning and behavior disorders with the skills and knowledge in this content area. This course is planned to be the capstone course for teachers who already hold a valid teaching certificate and are completing their course of study for certification to teach P-12 LBD students.

3. Description of proposed course
   3.1 Course content outline
       • Link K-12 LBD student results to instructional practice using WKU Teacher Work Sample.
       • Reflect on skills and knowledge mastered in course work while observing/teaching in a special education setting.
       • Develop a Professional Growth Plan (PGP) citing areas of strength and areas requiring additional professional development in order to strengthen skills for teaching students with LBD.

   3.2 Tentative text(s)
4. Second offering of a temporary course (if applicable)
   4.1 Reason for offering this course a second time on a temporary basis: must be created to accommodate registration, and there is insufficient time to complete the new course approval process
   4.1 Term course was first offered: Fall 2012
   4.2 Enrollment in first offering: 19

5. Term of Implementation: Spring 2013

6. Dates of review/approvals:

1. Identification of proposed course:
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: LME 589
   1.2 Course title: Field Experience in Library Media Education
   1.3 Abbreviated course title: Field Exp LME
   1.4 Credit hours and contact hours: 3.0
   1.5 Type of course: P
   1.6 Prerequisites: Permission of the instructor; admission to professional education
   1.7 Course catalog listing: Field experience in an appropriate setting under supervision of a certified library media specialist for LME students seeking initial Kentucky teaching certification in school library media at the graduate level.

2. Rationale:
   2.3 Reason for developing the proposed course: Students who seek school library certification but do not have prior teaching certification must complete 200 field experience hours prior to student teaching. The proposed LME 589 course will allow the Library Media Education (LME) faculty to better meet the needs of initial certification students and provide the required field hours mandated by the Education Professional Standards Board (EPSB). The EPSB has recently increased the number of required field hours prior to the student teaching experience, so the proposed course is an effort to address and document this new requirement. This course will be a requirement for students who do not have teacher certification and who are seeking initial certification in LME.
   2.4 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: Based on past enrollments of students seeking initial certification via the LME Master’s degree, we expect less than 5 students per academic year. These students will be managed by existing staff and school partners in manner similar to the LME practicum class.
   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: This course will resemble the LME 590 Practicum course, but will not be the capstone course. The course design will allow for an extended experience in the field meeting the requirements of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for a 200-hour field experience prior to the LME 592 Internship in LME course. While Exceptional Education (EXED 590), Interdisciplinary Early Childhood Education (IECE 524), Literacy (LTCY 695), and Middle Grades Education (EDU 590) are practicum courses at the graduate level, they are specific to a professional area, and none requires completion of 200 hours of field experience.
   2.6 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments: Programs in Educational Administration and Leadership (EDAD 598), Counseling and Student Affairs (CNS 590, CNS 591), Psychology (PSY 662), and many other disciplines offer practicum courses specific to a professional area. However, these courses do not provide an option for the initial certification of Library Media Education students and do not require completion of 200 hours of field experience.
   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: Murray State University (LIB 621), and Eastern Kentucky University (LIB 870) offer practicum courses for students in Library Media Education graduate degree or Rank I programs, but not as part of initial certification at the master’s degree level and do not include 200 hours of field experience required by the Commonwealth of Kentucky for initial certification. It is necessary for the LME program to develop this course because currently it is the only program in the state providing initial certification in LME to students without prior teacher certification.
3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Course objectives: At the conclusion of the course, students will be able to

- Apply knowledge and skills in library media education to experiences in a supervised internship setting,
- Demonstrate teaching and student management competencies expected of a beginning teacher,
- Plan and carry out activities in each of the five standards areas of the American Association of School Librarians standards (AASL).
- Apply knowledge of the Library Media Education field to develop a Professional Planning Document based on AASL standards

3.2 Content outline:
- Overview of the Field Hour Experience
- Expectations of Internship activities
- Expectations of cooperating media specialists
- Completion of required forms and field reflections
- Overview of Instructional Practices in the Library
- Overview of Models of Student Behavior Management in the Library
- Overview of the Professional Planning Document Process
- Overview of Professional Planning Document and Concept of Reflective Practice
- Review of AASL Professional Standards
- Review of Portfolio Planning Document Instructions and Rubric

3.3 Student expectations and requirements:
- Complete and pass course assignments
- Document a minimum of 200 hours of field experience activity
- Complete other assignments related to AASL program standards, instruction in the library, and student behavior management

3.4 Tentative texts and course materials:

4. Resources:

4.1 Library resources: No additional library resources required
4.2 Computer resources: No additional computer resources required

5. Budget implications:

5.1 Proposed method of staffing: As enrollment will be minimal, students will be managed by existing staff and school partners in manner similar to the LME practicum class.
5.2 Special equipment needed: None needed
5.3 Expendable materials needed: None needed
5.4 Laboratory materials needed: None needed

6. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2013

1. Identification of proposed course
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number:  SPED 595
   1.2 Course title:  Advanced Preparation Capstone for Special Education
   1.3 Abbreviated course title:  Advanced Prep Cap SPED
   1.4 Credit hours:  3
   1.5 Schedule type:  N
   1.6 Prerequisites:  Passing score on required Praxis II exams for Kentucky LBD or MSD certification (appropriate to student’s program) prior to enrolling; and instructor permission.
   1.7 Course description:
      A capstone course in Special Education for advanced candidates seeking an additional teacher certification area. Practice in implementing instructional skills and procedures. Field observation hours required. Fee may apply.

2. Rationale
   2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course:
      Previously, all graduate students in Learning and Behavior Disorders (LBD) programs, both initial certification and advanced certification, took EXED 590- Advanced Internship in Special Education. Beginning September, 2012, Kentucky’s Education Professional Standards Board (EPSB) set new guidelines for initial certification teacher education programs. These guidelines include specific demands for initial certification students in a supervised field placement with specific parameters that are appropriate for the current course, SPED 590. Those parameters are not appropriate for the advanced certification student who has completed a teacher education program including student teaching and holds a valid teaching certificate. The needs of these two groups of students are significantly different enough to warrant separation of the two. To meet advanced certification students’ needs, the proposed course, SPED 595-Advanced Preparation Capstone, has been developed as a temporary course, which allowed faculty to meet the EPSB effective dates of Fall 2012. The purpose of this proposal is to make the official program change in the advanced certification program. The proposed course is designed to be taken by students in both the LBD program and the Moderate/Severe Disabilities (MSD) program.
   2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: 25 per offering, based on average program enrollment of last four years.
   2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered by the department:
      Other programs have capstone courses (TCHL 560: Action Research Capstone for Teacher Leaders; GTE 538: Practicum for Teachers of Gifted Students; LTCY 695: Internship in Literacy Supervision), but none will meet the needs of advanced certification students in the content areas of Learning and Behavior Disorders (LBD) or Moderate and Severe (MSD) with the skills and knowledge in the respective content areas. This course is planned to be the capstone course for teachers who already hold a valid teaching certificate and are completing their course of study for certification to teach P-12 LBD or P-12, MSD students.
   2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments:
      Several programs offer capstone courses; some examples are: CD 590: Clinical Internship; PSY 592: Psychology Internship; PSY 662: Practicum-Field Placement; CNS 590 or 591: Practicum in Counseling; and CNS 595: Internship in Career Counseling. No courses in other departments focus specifically on a field-based experience for previously certified P-12 teachers in need of advanced skills and knowledge in the area of LBD or MSD content.
   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: A special education capstone course is a typical offering found in both benchmark universities as well as other Kentucky universities. Field-based experience is a necessary component of similar programs; this is apparent as indicated by the examples below.

3. Discussion of proposed course
3.1 Course objectives: This course is designed as a capstone experience through field observations for previously certified teachers who are adding LBD or MSD certification. At the conclusion of this course, students will be able to exhibit the following learning outcomes:
   - Plan and execute lesson plans for students with disabilities; reflect on those practices
   - Link K-12 LBD or MSD student outcomes to instructional practice using WKU Teacher Work Sample.
   - Reflect on skills and knowledge mastered in course work while observing/teaching in a special education setting.
   - Develop a Professional Growth Plan (PGP) citing areas of strength and creating goals for professional development in order to strengthen skills for teaching students with LBD or MSD.

3.2 Content outline:
   - Teacher roles, dispositions, practices, program descriptions, and evaluations for both general education and special education.
   - Universal Design for Learning Framework to lesson development and use with the WKU Teacher Work Sample
   - Theory supporting inclusion practices including co-teaching models
   - Professional Development Plan encompassing the CEC Standard 5: Advance their knowledge and skills regarding the education of individuals with exceptionalities
   - The grading process for exceptional learners (the fair, accurate, and legal way to adapt current practices)
   - IDEA requirements for an Individual Educational Plan (IEP).

3.3 Student expectations and requirements: Student learning will be evaluated based on a combination of papers, projects, and performance in supervised field experiences.

3.4 Tentative text(s)

4. Resources:
4.1 Library resources: Existing library resources are sufficient.
4.2 Computer resources: Existing electronic resources are sufficient.
5. Budget Implications:
   5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Current staffing is adequate at the present time. There will be no additional students for this course. The same students who will take this course would have previously taken SPED 590 and the same instructor and practitioners who teach and supervise in SPED 590 will teach and supervise in SPED 595. Therefore, no additional staffing is required for this course.
   5.2 Special equipment needed: Current equipment offered by the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences will be appropriate.
   5.3 Expendable materials needed: Current resources are adequate.
   5.4 Laboratory materials needed: Current resources are adequate.

6. Proposed term for implementation: Spring 2013

1. Identification of proposed course:
   1.8 Course prefix (subject area) and number: ICSR 515
   1.9 Course title: Utopias, Dystopias, & Intentional Communities
   1.10 Abbreviated course title: Utopias, Dystopias, Int Comm
   1.11 Credit hours and contact hours: 3
   1.12 Type of course: S
   1.13 Prerequisites/corequisites: None
   1.14 Course catalog listing: A study of fictional and historical utopias, dystopias, and intentional communities, with particular attention to environmental concerns.

2. Rationale:
   2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course: This course serves as an elective in the M.A. in Social Responsibility & Sustainable Communities, providing students with a way to examine the interconnections among environmental chaos, utopian visions for a better world and dystopian interpretations of the future. Since the SRSC is just over a year old, we are now identifying the kinds of electives our program should offer. ICSR 515 will provide students with an opportunity to study the ways in which gender, race, and class impact constructions of social justice as they relate to utopian and dystopian communities, thus addressing one of the SRSC program objectives: “analyze the power relationships that historically surround social justice and how these may be changed or augmented to increase social equality and equity.” ICSR 515 also serves as an elective in the graduate certificate in Gender & Women’s Studies.

   2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: Based on the enrollment in the Fall 2012 version of the course (special topics), the projected enrollment is 12-15.

   2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: The course is one of the few courses within the Department of Diversity & Community Studies that function as an elective in the Master’s in Social Responsibility & Sustainable Communities; most electives are offered by other departments. None of the departmental electives focuses on utopias and dystopias, however, making this a course that fills a gap, particularly in its emphasis on environmental sustainability.

   2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments: There are currently no courses that focus exclusively on the topics of ICSR 515. The English Department may teach selected utopian or dystopian works of fiction as part of other courses.

   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: Other institutions offer courses on utopian and/or dystopian literature (typically in English Departments) or on intentional communities. Very few offer courses that examine the linkages among all three. However, a review of offerings at our benchmark institutions reveals these similar courses:
   - California State University (Chico): GEOG 604 Planning, Theory and Practice looks at garden cities, utopias, new urbanism, and the visioning of communities of practice, social difference, and sustainability.
   - Northern Arizona University: SUS 602 Visions of Good and Sustainable Communities: Community, Technology, and Values, which examines the “role of technology in both creating and undermining good and sustainable communities.” Also: SUS 695 Elements of Sustainable Communities: Theory and Practice, which focuses on “worldviews, human nature, and the shaping of community life.”

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Course objectives:
By the end of the course, students will be able to
- Analyze the ways that the utopian and/or dystopian impulse responds to social problems;
- Critique contemporary and historical attitudes and practices regarding nature and science;
- Integrate theory and criticism in ways that illuminate a range of utopian and dystopian issues;
- Understand the ways in which intentional communities attempt to address problems of sustainability and community development;
- Develop their own positions and arguments, through research projects and discussion and reflection.

3.2 Content outline:

I. The Utopian Impulse
   A. Fictional utopias (literary, film)
   B. Social theory on utopian thought

II. Dystopias and Environmental Chaos
   A. Fictional utopias (literary, film)
   B. Nonfiction responses to global environmental crisis
   C. Theoretical responses to the dystopic vision

III. Intentional Communities
   A. Theory and criticism about intentional communities
   B. Historical examples
   C. Contemporary examples

3.3 Student expectations and requirements:
- Students will demonstrate their understanding of the positions and arguments of representative authors, in take-home and/or proctored exams.
- Students will respond regularly and with appropriate analytical depth in class discussions.
- Students will complete one or more research papers in which they demonstrate a mastery of the material and in which they apply their theoretical knowledge to real world problems.

3.4 Tentative texts and course materials: Readings may include such works as:

Additional materials include films, short stories, music, and art, as available on the internet.

4. Resources:
   4.1 Library resources: Sufficient.
   4.2 Computer resources: Sufficient.

5. Budget implications:
   5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Current WKU graduate faculty, Dr. Jane Olmsted, will teach this course in rotation with others. She no longer teaches in English, so this course replaces previously taught courses in that department.
   5.2 Special equipment needed: None.
   5.3 Expendable materials needed: None.
   5.4 Laboratory materials needed: None.

6. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2013

7. Dates of prior committee approvals:

1. Identification of proposed course:
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: ICSR 525
   1.2 Course title: Place & the Problem of Healing
   1.3 Abbreviated course title: Place & the Problem of Healing
   1.4 Credit hours and contact hours: 3
   1.5 Type of course: S
   1.6 Prerequisites/corequisites: None
   1.7 Course catalog listing: A study of place as it relates to environmental and human/animal suffering and healing.

2. Rationale:
   2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course: This course serves as an elective in the M.A. in Social Responsibility & Sustainable Communities, providing students with a way to examine the interconnections among environmental, individual, and community suffering. ICSR 525 addresses the SRSC program objective of “examining the practical and theoretical principles of [environmental] sustainability applying them to diverse situations and communities throughout the world.” Since the SRSC is just over a year old, we are now identifying the kinds of electives our program should offer. ICSR 525 gives students an opportunity to study the processes and levels of healing, including negotiations between violence and peace, silence and voice, language and expression, and ritual and sharing. ICSR 525 also serves as an elective in the graduate certificate in Gender & Women’s Studies.
   2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: Based on the enrollment in the Spring 2012 version of the course (special topics), the projected enrollment is 12-15.
   2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department: The course is one of the few courses within the Department of Diversity & Community Studies that function as an elective in the Master’s in Social Responsibility & Sustainable Communities; most electives are offered by other departments. None of the departmental electives focuses on place and healing, particularly in its emphasis on the ways that environmental ruin and reclamation inform and are informed by human, animal, and/or community suffering and healing.
   2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments: There are currently no courses that focus exclusively on the topics of ICSR 525. While courses in counseling focus on personal and social trauma and ways to improve the lives of individuals and communities, this is not a course in clinical practice. PH 444 Death, Dying and Bereavement examines the experience of dying and death, with attention to philosophical and spiritual contexts and to coping skills. Similarly, SWRK 673 Grief/Loss Issues Intervention deals with interventions in a social work setting. ICSR 525 draws on nonfictional accounts, such as memoir and environmental writing, to examine the interactions of human, animal, and the environment and the ways that mutual healing can help us understand the interconnectedness of Nature and culture.
   2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions: Other institutions offer courses on the environment and/or sense of place—not specifically linking to healing, but implicit in social justice topics. A review of offerings at our benchmark institutions reveals these similar courses:
Eastern Michigan University: WGST 660 Teaching for Social and Ecological Justice and SOFD 661 EcoJustice and Education both address environmental concerns as they intersect with social justice or community issues, not specifically about healing but “leading to democratic, socially, and ecologically just communities.”

Montclair University: CNFS 503 Humanities and the Environment examines 1) humans in nature; 2) humans vs. nature; and 3) humans and nature, the “new mysticism of today.”

Northern Arizona University: SUS 601 Visions of Good and Sustainable Societies: Self, Other, and Community, which explores “how we develop conceptions of ourselves, how such conceptions are related to those named as ‘other,’” and the ways we interact.

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Course objectives:

By the end of the course, students will be able to

1. Through memoir and non-fiction, examine the ways that “a sense of place” develops over time;
2. Investigate the evolution of perspectives on Nature, e.g., as nurturing Mother, as material for the betterment of society, mechanized; as sacred, as impartial;
3. Employ environmental theory to understand the way humans respond to Nature, including alienation and romanticization;
4. Understand the ways in which individual healing is related to a sense of place;
5. Develop their own positions and arguments, through research projects and discussion and reflection.

3.2 Content outline:

I. Family, Place, and Healing
   A. Memoir on family and environment (e.g., Derek Jensen’s A Language Older than Words or Dorothy Allison’s Two or Three Things I Know for Sure)
   B. Theory on violence, forgiveness, healing; relation to place

II. Culture, Place, and Healing
   A. Theory (e.g., Plumwood’s Environmental Culture)
   B. Memoir (e.g., Terry Tempest Williams’ Refuge: An Unnatural History of Family and Place) and/or Fictional instances of place/healing (e.g., Praisesong for the Widow)

III. Nature, Wildlife, and Healing
   A. Theory on the relationships between human and animal
   B. Memoir (e.g., Elisabeth Tova Bailey’s The Sound of a Wild Snail Eating or Jane Goodall’s Reason for Hope)

3.3 Student expectations and requirements:

- Students will demonstrate their understanding of the positions and arguments of representative authors, in take-home and/or proctored exams.
- Students will respond regularly and with appropriate analytical depth in class discussions.
- Students will complete one or more research papers in which they demonstrate a mastery of the material and in which they apply their theoretical knowledge to real world problems.

3.4 Tentative texts and course materials: Readings may include such works as:

Allison, Dorothy. Two or Three Things I Know For Sure. NY: Plume, 1996.

Orion Magazine (Free email subscription).

Additional materials include films, short stories, music, and art, as available on the internet.

4. Resources:

4.1 Library resources: Sufficient.

4.2 Computer resources: Sufficient.

5. Budget implications:

5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Current WKU graduate faculty, Dr. Jane Olmsted, will teach this course in rotation with others. She no longer teaches in English, so this course replaces previously taught courses in that department.

5.2 Special equipment needed: None.

5.3 Expendable materials needed: None.

5.4 Laboratory materials needed: None.

6. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2013

1. Identification of course:
   1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number:  LME 592
   1.2 Course title: Internship in LME
   1.3 Credit hours: 3 hours

2. Current prerequisites:
   Permission of the instructor; completion of 24 hours of course work including LME 501, 512, 535, and 537; admission to candidacy; and admission to professional education

3. Proposed prerequisites:
   Permission of the instructor; completion of 24 hours of course work including LME 501, 512, 535, 537, and 589; admission to candidacy; and admission to professional education

4. Rationale for the revision of prerequisites/corequisites/special requirements:
   LME 589 Field Experience in Library Media Education is being added to the program for students seeking initial teaching certification. LME 589 meets the new state requirements for 200 hours of field work prior to the LME 592 Internship in LME course. For this reason, it is necessary to add LME 589 to the prerequisites for LME 592.

5. Effect on completion of major/minor sequence:
   The course does not add hours to the program. Students requiring LME 589 course will take it as one of their program electives. Students seeking initial certification in LME are already required to take LME 592, which is their capstone course.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change: The program revisions proposed are required by the Kentucky Educational Standards Board and WKU Graduate Studies and Research. The Kentucky Educational Standards Board requires a pre-practicum field experience of 200 hours. Graduate Studies and Research requires programs to revise their programs to reflect the new GRE exam.

- The proposal to add LME 589 Field Experience in Library Media Education for initial teaching certification meets the new state requirements for 200 hours of field experience prior to LME 592 Internship in LME.
- The proposal to revise program admission requirements to reflect new GRE scores is required by WKU Graduate Studies and Research.
- Revision of wording in the program is for the purposes of adding clarity and aligning the official program description with the catalog description.

Students who took the GRE General Test prior to October 1, 2002 must have a GAP score of 3500 or higher.

2. Admission with a baccalaureate degree but without GRE or GMAT scores requires all of the following:
   (a) Applicants who hold a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university may apply for admission without a GRE or GMAT score if they achieved an overall undergraduate GPA of 2.75 or at least a 2.75 GPA on their last 60 hours of appropriate undergraduate credit for the degree.
   (b) The following materials must be submitted as part of an admission portfolio with the application form for admission:
| Note: The admission option based on successful completion of previous master’s degree was moved to be the first option.
Applicants to the MS in ID program must qualify for admission through one of the following three admission options.
1. Admission based on a previously completed master's degree requires the following: Admission may be recommended for applicants who hold a master's degree or higher from a regionally accredited institution and who earned an overall graduate GPA of 3.0 or higher.
2. Admission based on scores for the GRE or GMAT requires one of the following:
   (a) Admission with GRE
      i. Scores prior to August 2011 - The required GAP score based on the GRE is 2200 (GAP = GRE-V plus GRE-Q multiplied by undergraduate GPA). An Analytical Writing score of 3.5 or higher is also required. Students who took the GRE General Test prior to October 1, 2002 must have a GAP score of 3500 or higher.
      ii. Scores after August 2011 - Minimum GAP score (undergraduate GPA X 100) + (GRE Verbal + Quantitative score) of 550, with a minimum verbal and quantitative score of 139 each. An Analytical Writing score of 3.5 or higher is also required.
   (b) Admission with GMAT- The required GAP admission to Graduate Studies and the MS in Instructional Design degree program:

i. A letter of application that explains why the applicant should be admitted without a GRE or GMAT score.

ii. A statement explaining the applicant's career goal(s) and purpose(s) for pursuing the master's program in Instructional Design.

iii. A current vita.

iv. At least two letters of recommendation:
   A. One letter of reference from a college/university instructor that details the applicant's potential for successful completion of the Master of Science program in instructional design.
   B. One letter of reference from an employer or supervisor that addresses the applicant's dispositions that predict success as a member of an instructional design or training team.

v. At least a 3-page paper that indicates the applicant's analytical writing ability.

The admission decision by program faculty under this option is based on a review of the full set of admission documents. Applicants should strive to provide evidence of potential for completion of the degree and success in the field of instructional design.

3. Admission based on a previously completed master's degree requires the following:

(a) Admission may be granted for applicants who hold a master's degree or higher with an overall graduate GPA of 3.0 or higher from a regionally-accredited institution.

   score based on the GMAT score is 1050 (GAP=Undergraduate grade point average times 200 plus GMAT score). An analytical writing score of 3.5 or higher is also required.

3. Admission with a baccalaureate degree but without GRE or GMAT scores requires all of the following:

(a) Applicants who hold a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university may apply for admission without a GRE or GMAT score if they achieved an overall undergraduate GPA of 3.0 or at least a 3.2 GPA in their last 60 hours of undergraduate credit for the degree.

(b) The following materials must be submitted as part of an admission portfolio with the application form for admission to Graduate Studies and the MS in Instructional Design degree program:

   i. A letter of application that provides a rationale for admission without a GRE or GMAT score.
   ii. A statement explaining the applicant's career goal(s) and purpose(s) for pursuing the master's program in Instructional Design.
   iii. A current vita.
   iv. At least two letters of recommendation:
      A. One letter of reference from a college/university instructor that details the applicant's potential for successful completion of the Master of Science program in instructional design.
      B. One letter of reference from an employer or supervisor that addresses the applicant's dispositions that predict success as a member of an instructional design or training team.

   v. At least a 3-page paper that indicates the applicant's analytical writing ability.

The admission decision by program faculty under this alternative will be based on a review of the full set of admission documents. Applicants should strive to provide evidence of potential for completion of the degree and success in the field of instructional design.
4. Rationale for the proposed program change:
The admission policy is being proposed for revision to align it with the new Graduate Studies and Research admission requirements. Applicants for the ID program are a heterogeneous group, so the admission alternatives have been developed to allow individuals with a wide variety of educational and work backgrounds to demonstrate their potential to be successful in the program.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change: After going through the admissions process for two years, the faculty in the program is revising the application requirements to be able to make better-informed decisions. The personal statement is critical in determining the areas of study of interest to the student. Without this information we are not able to determine whether or not our program would be a good fit for him or her. The writing sample and the letters of recommendation will provide important information about the intellectual abilities of applicants and whether or not they are academically prepared for our program. Finally, we would like to have a priority deadline of March 15 to give us a better chance at landing top students. That date seems consistent with other programs in Religious Studies.

Additional electives, offered by the Gender & Women's Studies Program, appear in the list below.

Faculty and students may make recommendations to include other courses at any time. All new courses are reviewed by the Gender & Women's Studies Steering Committee. Students should check with the Women's Studies Office for an updated list of electives.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change: As new courses are created or revised or come to our attention as suitable as electives for the Graduate Certificate in Gender & Women’s Studies, we need to update our catalog listing. Current faculty teaching these electives have been notified and have approved of our including their course(s) as a program elective. In a number of instances, students have taken these electives as exceptions to the Graduate Catalog; adding all appropriate electives removes the necessity of repeatedly offering exceptions.
