1. Identification of course:

- 1.1 Current course prefix (subject area) and number: SMED 210
- 1.2 Course title: Knowing and Learning in Mathematics and Science

2. Rationale for the course deletion: This course is part of SKyTeach, a National Math and Science Initiative (NMSI) funded program to replicate the University of Texas at Austin's UTeach curriculum for preparation of math and science teachers. Adopting this sequence meets NMSI's requirement for replication of UTeach at WKU. This course replaces the usual education psychology course. It will be an introduction to the theories for knowing and learning in math and science, drawing on insights from cognition and learning sciences. This course, as listed as a 200 level course does not meet the needs of our regional campus students due to non-compete agreements with KCTC campuses on the Elizabethtown and Owensboro sites. A new course proposal, SMED 310, Knowing and Learning in Mathematics and Science is being sent forward at this time. This course will replace SMED 210.

1. Identification of program:

- 1.1 Program reference number: 245
- 1.2 Program title: Hospitality Management (A.S.)
- 1.3 Credit hours: 64

2. Rationale for the program deletion: After several years in existence, the enrollment goals for the A.S degree program were never met. Students are more interested in the B.S. degree rather than the A.S degree and once they became aware of the B.S. degree they immediately enrolled in it. Additionally, if a student initially enrolled in the A.S. degree, they would typically transfer to the B.S. degree without completing the A.S. degree first. After analyzing the data on enrollment and graduation rates for this program, we have decided to terminate the program.

3. Effect on current students or other departments, if known: none. For the few students who wish to finish the program, they will be allowed to. There are no courses that will be dropped as the result of deleting the program.

Gordon Ford College of Business
Business Administration
Proposal to Create a New Course
(Action Item)

Contact Person: Michelle Trawick, michelle.trawick@wku.edu

1. Identification of proposed course:

- 1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: BA 495
- 1.2 Course title: Career Development Attendance
- 1.3 Abbreviated course title: Career Dev
(maximum of 30 characters or spaces)
- 1.4 Credit hours: 0 Variable credit (no)
- 1.5 Grade type: Pass/Fail
- 1.6 Prerequisites/corequisites: Senior standing and admission to the college
- 1.7 Course description: Completion of multiple career readiness and professional development events and activities prior to graduation from WKU. All events and activities must be from an approved Gordon Ford College of Business list.

2. Rationale:

- 2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course:
This course serves to track student participation in a number of enrichment activities throughout the campus that support development of professional competencies. The activities may be spread out over the entire undergraduate career. This course will be used to complement other courses for an Advanced Professionalism certificate program, proposed by the Gordon Ford College of Business.
- 2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: All students enrolled in the Advanced Professional Certificate program. 15-20 the first year. Our goal would be to have 10% of our undergraduate majors to add this certificate to their credentials. Current undergraduate enrollment is 2,143.
- 2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department:
This course will complement other courses outlined for a proposed certificate for Advanced Professionalism in the Gordon Ford College of Business. Some of these activities are “swipeable” events for existing courses that utilize extra credit.
- 2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments:
This course adopts a model that is similar to that used by the Music and Film Departments (MUS 155; FILM 155) for ensuring completion of experiential/lab attendance requirements. To my knowledge, there are no other courses of this particular nature on campus.

- 2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions:
There are no known programs in-state or at benchmark institutions that offer a zero-credit lab course for career readiness or professional development activities. There are, however, several certificate programs that are modeled similarly. These institutions include Indiana State University (Workplace Professional Skills Certificate), Northern Illinois University (Learning and Leadership in the Workplace), and University of North Carolina at Charlotte, (Career Success Certificate).

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Schedule type: B

3.2 Learning Outcomes:

The overarching goal of BA 495 is to engage students in activities that will expand understanding of career opportunities and develop career readiness skills needed for entry into the business field.

3.3 Content outline: The course will track participation in events from an approved Gordon Ford College of Business Activity list to include topics such as these: Personal branding - tool development (such as LinkedIn), career portfolios; Career Services Workshops – interviewing skills, job search skills, resume development, networking skills; College Networking Events (Hays-Watkins Networking event, job fairs, Career Climb; and Senior Summit Seminars (Offer negotiations, practical financial matters). Students will be given the opportunity to participate in these activities beginning the freshman year; however, the points will not be tallied until registering for this course. The activities will be recorded in the WKU SEAT system. The faculty assigned to the course will review the students' SEAT records to confirm the completion of the course requirements.

Students must accumulate 21 points to pass the class. Of these 21 points, 6 are from required activities. Five of the six required points are for a Career Portfolio. The Career Portfolio activity is a self-paced learning module that involves the documentation and display of student knowledge, abilities, and potential for employment in either a paper or web-based deliverable. The finished career portfolio includes an organized record of goals, accomplishments, skills, projects completed, work samples and other evidence of successes and progress attained during the college career. Assignment information includes field-specific recommendations for showcasing marketable skills, as well as a detailed rubric for evaluation.

The remaining 15 points are distributed among the categories: Developmental, Job Search, and Exploration and Networking. Students can choose any combination from among these three categories as long as they have at least 2 points from each. Some of the activities may be repeated. The table below contains the currently approved list of activities, the associated points, and eligibility to repeat.

		Repeatable Activity	Points

- 3.4 Student expectations and requirements: Students will be advised to enroll in this course in either of the last two semesters prior to graduation. The prerequisites require the students to have senior standing and be admitted into the college of business. Students that wish to claim activities that are not “swipeable” events will need to bring evidence of completion to the instructor of record who will see that the information is entered into SEAT. A student must accumulate 21 points to “Pass” the course.

Proposal to Create a New Course
(Action Item)

Contact Person: Dr. Jeanine Huss, Jeanine.Huss@wku.edu, (270)745-2293

1. Identification of proposed course:

- 1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: EDU 300
- 1.2 Course title: Becoming an Effective Global Citizen
- 1.3 Abbreviated course title: Effective Global Citizen
(maximum of 30 characters or spaces)
- 1.4 Credit hours: 3 Variable credit: No
- 1.5 Grade type: Standard letter grade
- 1.6 Prerequisites/requisites: Completed 21 hours prior to enrollment.
- 1.7 Course description: This course will help students learn highly effective skills across personal, social, and cultural perspectives. Students will examine how their own choices affect others.

2. Rationale:

2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course: In support of the WKU mission of valuing lifelong learning and providing opportunities for students to be productive and engaged learners in a global society, the proposed course will enable learners to enhance their understanding of how to attain one's goals. This course will also teach a conceptual understanding of habits and how humans affect these habits at an individual and societal level by their personal behaviors and choices. Individual behaviors influence these changes, which in turn impact community and propel changes in cultural norms and values. The complexity of the relationship between habits and mindset increases with a greater understanding of how individuals can change their personal destinations. Students will become civically engaged and informed members of society as they make personal connections and share these connections with others in the community. The goal of this course is to provide students with lifelong leadership skills from a personal, social, and cultural perspective that will empower them to become active participants in their communities in the future.

2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course: Based on enrollment in general elective courses presently taught, the estimated enrollment in the course is 10 to 20 students depending on how often the course is offered. This course will fulfill a portion of the Connections category in the Colonnade Program.

2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department:

This course complements education courses because it targets skills and behaviors for success both in and out of the classroom. The proposed course will add a dimension to the School of Teacher Education that is currently unavailable to our students.

2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments:

This course is unique in that it helps students develop behaviors and mindsets for future personal success. It is not a component of a leadership program, such as LEAD 200: Introduction to Leadership Studies, which investigates leadership theories and assesses leadership styles. WKU ROTC program does offer leadership courses, but it is offered for those who will be entering the Senior ROTC program after graduation.

2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions:

There are no known similar courses at institutions within Kentucky, such as the University of Louisville and University of Kentucky. No benchmark colleges beyond Kentucky offer a similar course either, including Appalachian State and Central Michigan University. While many colleges offer Leadership Training courses for the Army and leadership training of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, the aim of these courses is to motivate and qualify Cadets for entry into the Senior ROTC program. There is a similar workshop offered at California University of Pennsylvania.

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Schedule type: lecture

3.2 Learning Outcomes:

- Explore paradigms needed to create leadership skills and mindsets for our global society.
- Examine personal choices and determine which skills need improvement on the individual level. Reflect on one of these skills and explain how society should work to improve these skills as a whole.
- Define fixed and growth mindsets and examine individually.
- Describe how individual choices impact habits.
- Understand how mindsets and habits can impact oneself now and in the future.
- Analyze how one might create solutions to bad habits.
- Examine how changing habits impacts society in a positive way.
- Explain how habits and mindsets affect societal or cultural norms.

3.3 Content outline:

- Some topics included in the proposed course include:
 - Individual choices and how these affect societal and cultural norms
 - Growth and fixed mindset
 - Lifelong leadership skills and habits

3.4 Student expectations and requirements:

- Assessment of student learning will be based on a combination of assignments and exams, including some or all of the following:
 - Online discussion of selected journal/book articles or chapters
 - Reflections based on readings/case studies
 - Service-learning project
 - Quizzes
 - Tests
 - Regular class attendance
 - Online Blog
 - Participation in class discussion and class activities
 - Performance-based assessment of a leadership project

3.5 Tentative texts and course materials:

Covey, S. (1998). The 7 habits of highly effective teens. New York, NY: Franklin Covey Co.

Covey, Stephen. The seven habits signature kit. New York, NY: Fireside.

Dweck, C. (2006). Mindset: The new psychology of success. New York, NY: Ballantine Books.

4. Resources:

4.1 Library resources: Current resources are adequate.

4.2 Computer resources: Current resources are adequate.

5. Budget implications:

5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Two full-time faculty members will co-teach this course. (Six current faculty members have certification in Covey's 7 Habits of Highly Effective People.) The course will be taught once or twice a year, depending on need. This course lends itself well to a January or May term class.

5.2 Special equipment needed: No special equipment is needed.

5.3 Expendable materials needed: None.

5.4 Laboratory materials needed: None.

Proposal to Create a New Course

Contact Person: Jeanine Huss, jeanine.huss@wku.edu , (270)745-2293

1. Identification of proposed course:

- 1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: EDU 385
- 1.2 Course title: Climate, Resources, & Society
- 1.3 Abbreviated course title: Climate, Resources, & Society
- 1.4 Credit hours: 3 Variable credit: No
- 1.5 Grade type: Standard letter grade
- 1.6 Prerequisites: Junior standing or completed 21 hours prior to enrollment
- 1.7 Course catalog listing: Global climate change is affected by a variety of variable, many involving humans. This course will teach a basic understanding of global climate change and then look at how humans affect global climate change.

2. Rationale:

2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course:

In support of the WKU mission of valuing lifelong learning and providing opportunities for students to be productive and engaged leaders in a global society, the proposed course will introduce undergraduate students to global climate change from a personal and cultural perspective. Students will be able to study how global climate change science affects policies, cultures, and societies. Population and resources are vital aspects of global climate change, and therefore, will be reviewed in this course.

Global climate change is affected by a variety of variables, many involving humans. This course will teach a basic understanding of global climate change and then look at how humans affect global climate change by such items as population size, natural resources, policies, personal behavior and choices. The content of this course will address the interrelationship between humans, natural resources and culture and encourage students to become civically engaged and informed members of society. The goal of this course is not to convert students into environmental advocates. The goal is to lead them to rethink and reconsider some of their assumptions about the world they inhabit.

2.2 Proposed enrollment for the proposed course:

Estimated initial enrollment in the course is 10 to 20 students depending on how often the course is offered. This course will fulfill the Connections category in the Colonnade Program. Students may take this course for a science requirement at WKU or may use the proposed course as a content elective.

2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department:

The School of Teacher Education is looking towards future initiatives and trends in teacher preparation. The proposed course will allow students to receive credit for courses that will help in these initiatives. The proposed EDU 385: Climate, Resources, and Society course will complement ELED 406: Elementary Science Methods and ELED 407: Elementary Social Studies Methods. This course can be used by students who are majoring in education, especially those who want to teach science or social studies at the K-12 levels in the future.

There are a few courses in the Geology and Geography Department that address global climate change. For example, GEOG 322: Global Climate Systems addresses the climate and how environments are affected by climate. GEOL 103: Our Dynamic Earth addresses some of the global systems including global climate change. GEOG 226: Our Dangerous Planet focuses on natural disasters and how humans might influence the scope or breadth of these disasters. However, these learning outcomes are different from the proposed EDU 385, since they do not cover global climate change at the individual and societal levels and how societies can make cultural changes to lessen the impacts of global climate change. This course will begin with an overview of global climate change, but spend more time on the social and cultural aspects of it.

2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments:

At the undergraduate level, EDU 385 will be cross-listed with the Department of Geography and Geology's GEOG 385, and thus, is equivalent to the course in that department. It will be co-taught by Education and Geology faculty members. This course shows collaboration between two departments and shared talents of faculty members.

2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered at other institutions:

Several benchmark universities offer similar undergraduate courses. For example, Appalachian State University's BIO 1103: Global Climate Change and Earth's Life that focuses on earth's organisms and how earth's biota might fare in a future world. In contrast, the proposed EDU 385 course takes a holistic approach to the global climate change by looking not only at biota but focusing more on human impact and how humans impact global climate change. Appalachian State University also offers GHY 1010: Global Climate Change in the Biosphere which focuses on a scientific examination of global climate change, including the physical patterns within the atmosphere, climate change due to both natural and anthropogenic mechanisms, and projections of future change. EDU 385 will go beyond the science of global climate change to focus on people impact on global climate change.

Ball State offers: GEOG 331: Global Climatology and GEOG 332: Climate Change and Modification. Both of these courses focus on the science of climate change. Bowling Green State University offers GEOG 4550: Global Atmospheric Problems which studies the interrelationships between humans and atmospheric environments, including global warming. EDU 385 will focus on cultural and societal issues associated with global climate change.

Central Michigan University offers GEL 105: Our Dangerous Planet which studies natural and human-made disasters. EDU 385 will focus specifically on global climate change and not look at the diversity of natural disasters that occur.

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Course Objectives:

The proposed course is designed to help students to:

- Reflect upon and analyze personal perspective on global climate change and compare these perspectives against outcomes from Global Warming Six America's study (Leiserowitz et al. 2012).
- Read and listen to a variety of views on global climate change to form their new perspective on this subject.
- Examine how various societies help prevent and solve global climate change issues within their cultural norms.
- Describe how choices of more developed nations impact the least developed nations of the world.
- Understand how sustainability practices affect global climate change, and how local resources and cultures affect the ability to be sustainable and minimize contribution to global climate change.
- Explain the major climate change debates in Kentucky and abroad.
- Provide an in-depth analysis at the concepts of global climate change, resource management, and population density with the goal that students be able to propose solutions to local issues of global climate change.
- Learn basic knowledge of global climate change and then apply this knowledge to various societies to determine how culture can affect global climate change.
- Examine how changing resource availability related to climate change impacts culture and intensifies social problems.
- Comparatively describe present solutions implemented to address social and cultural problems related to global climate change in Kentucky and abroad.
- Utilize basic concepts of global climate change, resource availability, and population to develop practical solutions to current problems.

3.2 Content outline:

- Understand the basic science behind global climate change
- Focus on how humans affect global climate change; such as population size, natural resources, policy, personal behavior and choices.
- Determine how humans impact local resource availability and compels change in cultural norms and values.
- Determine the interrelationships between humans, natural resources and culture
- Encourage students to become civically engaged and informed members of society.

3.3 Student expectations and requirements:

Student expectations and course requirements may include such activities and projects as leading a class discussion on some aspect of global climate change and creating a service project that addresses a local aspect of global climate change. The culminating project required of each student will be an advertisement that encourages the local public to understand and act upon some aspect of global climate change.

3.4. Tentative texts and course materials:

Alley, Richard. 2011. Earth: The Operator's Manual. W.W. Norton and Company.

Readings will also be provided throughout the semester on Blackboard.

4. Resources:

4.1 Library resources: Library resources are adequate for the course.

4.2 Computer resources: Current resources are adequate.

5. Budget Implications:

5.1 Proposed method of staffing: Two full-time faculty members will co-teach this course. It will be taught once or twice a year, depending on need and availability of faculty members. The Education faculty member who will teach the course has a Ph. D. in Environmental Sciences and an undergraduate and Masters' degree in Secondary Science Education.

5.2 Special equipment needed: No special equipment is needed.

5.3 Expendable materials needed: None.

5.4 Laboratory supplies needed: None.

1. Identification of proposed course:

- 1.1 Course prefix and number: SMED 310
- 1.2 Course title: Knowing and Learning in Mathematics and Science
- 1.3 Abbreviated course title: Knowing and Learning
- 1.4 Credit hours and contact hours: 3.0
- 1.5 Type of course: L (lecture)
- 1.6 Prerequisites: a. SMED 101 and SMED 102 with a C or better OR
b. SMED 101 with a B or better and sophomore status
- 1.7 Course catalog listing:

Introduction to theories and principles of cognition and learning with emphasis on knowing and learning in math and science. Introduction to research on learning, memory, individual development, motivation and intelligence. Applications of learning theory will be explicitly tied to design of lesson plans, instruction and assessment.

2. Rationale:

- 2.1 Reason for developing the proposed course:
This course is part of SKyTeach, a National Math and Science Initiative (NMSI) funded program to replicate the University of Texas at Austin's UTeach curriculum for preparation of math and science teachers. Adopting this sequence meets NMSI's requirement for replication of UTeach at WKU. This course replaces the usual education psychology course. It will be an introduction to the theories for knowing and learning in math and science, drawing on insights from cognition and learning sciences. This course will replace SMED 210 and thus enable this course for delivery at regional campuses that have community colleges on site.
- 2.2 Projected enrollment in the proposed course:
Based on enrollments in the current math and science teacher education sequence and the successful recruitment of math/science majors for the one-time-only current sections of SMED 101, we expect 60 students per year.
- 2.3 Relationship of the proposed course to courses now offered by the department:
This course combines components of MGE/SEC 477/479 and PSY 310. SKyTeach students will take this course instead of existing courses.
- 2.4 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other departments:
This course resembles PSY 310 but emphasize knowing and learning in mathematics and science as understood from an interdisciplinary learning sciences perspective.
- 2.5 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other institutions:
This course is a replication of the Knowing and Learning course in the University of Texas at Austin's UTeach program.

3. Discussion of proposed course:

3.1 Course objectives:

A-Applied Learning: Focus on process or technique

This course introduces students to theories of cognition and learning as applied to the domains of mathematics and science. The learning sciences perspective draws from inquiry in a number of disciplines, including psychology, anthropology, sociology, biology, linguistics, neuroscience, individual developmental, and artificial intelligence. The perspective emphasizes investigation of standards for knowing, how knowledge is structured and how learning affects structure. The course will focus on tensions inherent in domain-general characterizations of understanding (e.g. intelligence) and domain-specific conceptions of knowing, in big ideas in math and science and the evolution of those ideas; and in math and science education.

3.2 Learning Outcomes:

Students will be able to:
1. Articulate standards for knowing science and mathematics and the theoretical frames which give rise to such standards
2. Describe how knowing and learning are structured, how knowledge structures change, and how change is facilitated in math & science classrooms
3. Describe paradigms for evaluating understanding (i.e. , theories of general intelligence versus expert/novice)
4. Describe links between coming to know science & math in individuals and the evolution of big ideas in the domains of math and science.
5. Articulate the interaction of domain/topic, aspects of individual learners & instructional choices on learning.
6. Conduct clinical interviews with subject(s) engaged in a problem solving activity. Students will record the interview, transcribe and analyze the activity.
7. Express informed opinions on current issues and tensions in education, especially as they relate to mathematics and science instruction.

3.3 Content Outline:

Individual differences, cultural influences, social construction of knowledge, and equity issues will be considered within each topic as outlined below:

- Self Development and Social Development
- Brain Development and Cognitive Development
- Memory & Cognitive Load
- Intelligence
- The nature of knowing & Knowledge Structure
- Learning Theory
- Identifying & Responding to Individual Learning differences
- Motivation, Learning Goals, & Teacher Influences
- Knowledge Transfer
- Problem Solving: Representation & Strategies

- Conceptualization & Learning as Conceptual Change
- Creativity
- Standards for Math and Science Education
- Classroom Assessment
- Standardized Testing

3.4 Student Expectations and requirements:

Evidence (Student Products)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Contributing to class discussion • Analysis of clinical interviews • Examinations • Term Paper • Blogs • Artifacts from clinical field experiences

Gordon Ford College of Business
Proposal to Create a New Certificate Program
(Action Item)

Contact Person: Michelle W. Trawick, michelle.trawick@wku.edu, 745-8803

1. Identification of program:

- 1.1 Program title: Advanced Professionalism
- 1.2 Required hours in program: 12
- 1.3 Special information: This certificate is interdisciplinary by nature and is applicable to all majors in the Gordon Ford College of Business. It will be administered through the GFCB Dean's Office. In addition to traditional coursework, a zero-credit course used to monitor the completion of several co-curricular activities must be passed prior to graduation to obtain the certificate.
- 1.4 Catalog description: Certificate focusing on competencies needed for career readiness and professional development for transitioning to the business field, including assessment, exploration, and experiential components.
- 1.5 Classification of Instructional Program Code (CIP):

2. Learning outcomes of the proposed certificate program:

The program offers student course work and co-curricular activities that will enable them to:

- Develop skills in accountability and responsibility, by fostering self-management and planning;
- Employ best practice communication and/or leadership skills in the context of the professional business environment which may include: self-branding, interviewing skills in the employment context, working in teams delivering formal presentations;
- Engage in relevant business field experiences, through internships and guided applied learning projects to support career decisions and transitions;
- Identify personal values and interests and use them in assessing career options; demonstrate job-search competence by developing job campaign tools, such as a career plan, a resume, and a career portfolio; and build career-related networks by leveraging opportunities for professional interaction with persons in-field, including use of technology such as social media tools.

3. Rationale:

- 3.1 Reason for developing the proposed certificate program: Feedback from employers, alumni, and faculty suggests that our college should concentrate on the level of professional preparedness of our students prior to the students' entering the job market. Specifically, employers have noted that our students' technical business skills meet their needs but that the students' soft skills (written and oral communication, professionalism, networking, time management, leadership, etc.) and professional awareness need to be developed in order for the students to have a successful career start. Our search suggests that these issues are not unique to our GFCB students. The annual Gallup/Lumina Foundation poll states results from a survey given to a sample of 623 businesses between November 25 and December 13 of 2013. The survey asks "In your opinion, what talent, knowledge, or skills should higher education institutions develop in students to best prepare graduates for success in the workforce in the coming years?" The top two responses to the survey are: Internships/on the job and practical experience and Communication skills/English and writing skills (Lumina Foundation/Gallup 30). Grasgreen notes a Bentley University survey that found businesses and recruiters perceive workplace preparedness as "adaptability, having a good attitude, and being respectful and maturity” (“Preparedness”). Further, the Bentley survey finds that 80% of business leaders believe soft skills are the most important in an employee and that career advising should begin the student’s freshman year (Grasgreen, “Preparedness”). An earlier article by Grasgreen notes the significant difference between students and employers perception of preparedness in terms of skills such as public speaking and written communication (“Qualified”). Dostis describes a Chegg/Harris Interactive study indicating that students were not prepared in personal finance, leadership, and organization. Further, schools should make “activities and experiential learning readily available” (Dostis).

This certificate program addresses the students’ level of professional preparedness by focusing on formal academic training as well as exploration and development of their professional skills through a variety of co-curricular activities. The 12 hours of traditional academic coursework are broken down into three general categories that address the theme of professional preparedness recognized by our employers and those in the studies cited above: Self Management Skills, Advanced Communication and Leadership, and Applied Career Experiences. Category I, Self-Management Skills, includes the GFCB University Experience course that highlights Steven Covey’s 7 Habits of Highly Effective People and a personal finance course. Both of these courses are freshman level courses and have practical skills that can make all students more successful in their college and professional careers. Category II, Advanced Communication and Leadership, includes a variety of courses meant to enhance the professional decision-making, communication, and leadership skills needed to be successful in today’s job market. Students will take two courses from this category though the two courses must be from different disciplines/prefixes. Category III, Applied Career Experiences, includes approved internship courses within the college as well as BA 490 which allows for either a general college of business internship or a compilation of several meaningful business experiences approved by the instructor. The certificate also includes a Category IV, Career Development, which is a zero credit hour course used to track participation in a variety of career development activities offered by the Center for Career and Professional Development and the Gordon Ford College of Business.

Other examples of this type of certificate have been found at the University of Georgia (Business Professionalism Certificate), Ball State University (Advanced Professionalism Certificate), and the University of Tennessee-Knoxville (Professional Development Certification). All three of these certificate programs focus solely on the completion of several co-curricular activities sponsored by the career services office at those institutions. Our proposed certificate blends a more traditional academic certificate with these solely co-curricular certificates by requiring both traditional coursework as well as the completion of several co-curricular activities prior to graduation. These activities, tracked in Category IV, include a formal resume review and interviewing workshop with our Center for Career and Professional Development as well as the participation in our career exploration and networking programs sponsored by our college.

This certificate is our college’s strategy to create an incentive for our students to pursue professional development and career preparation in an intentional, thoughtful manner. Students who complete this certificate will be better prepared to enter the workforce and will signal to future employers that they are serious about their own professional development.

In theory, a certificate of this nature could be useful to students in a variety of WKU programs. However, given our current resources, this certificate would be open to GFCB majors only. The initial years of the certificate could be used a trial period to determine the success and feasibility of expanding the certificate to more programs on campus.

- 3.2 Relationship of the proposed certificate program to other programs now offered by the department: There are 10 undergraduate majors whose curriculum are administered in our college. None of those majors require either course in Category I: Self-Management Skills. However, several majors in the college accept courses from Category II: Advanced Communication and Leadership as electives in their programs. For example, ECON 490, Practicum in Economics, may serve as a Business Economics elective and either MKT 321, Personal Selling, or MGT 361, Business Communication Fundamentals, can be used to fulfill a "professional elective" within the major. Thus, 6 of the 12 hours can be applied to a Business Economics major. The table below shows the potential overlap in major courses for students completing certificates.

Major	Required Major Hours	Potential Certificate Overlap Hours
Accounting	74	3
Business Informatics	72	9
Economics	31	3
Business Economics	72	6
Mathematical Economics (General/Actuarial Science Concentrations)	49/61	3/0
Finance (Financial Management/Financial Planning Concentrations)	73/79	6/6
Management	73	9
Entrepreneurship	70	3
International Business	73	3
Marketing	73	9

There is no reason to expect students to have the combination of courses that results in the overlap described above. However, channeling these students into coursework that will improve their professional preparedness through improved communication and professional interaction is beneficial to both the students and the programs.

- 3.3 Relationship of the proposed certificate program to certificate programs offered in other departments: The proposed certificate is unlike any other on campus. A certificate in Leadership Studies (#173, 15 hours) is offered through University College and is designed, "to enhance their leadership knowledge and skills for current or future activities in a broad range of organizations." While leadership courses are an option in the proposed certificate, three hours are the maximum allowed for completion and the student may easily complete the certificate with no hours of leadership coursework. Like the proposed certificate, the Citizenship and Social Responsibility Certificate (#1710, 18 hours) offered through University College is multi-disciplinary and focuses on preparing students to be effective citizens through both curricular and co-curricular activities. However, the Citizenship and Social Responsibility Certificate approaches our students' advancement primarily through addressing contemporary social issues. While the proposed certificate consists of existing courses in other programs, these courses along with professional development activities are packaged in a way that our students will see an intentional, thoughtful progression to their career success.

- 3.4 Projected enrollment in the proposed certificate program: 15-20 the first year. Our goal would be to have 10% of our undergraduate majors to add this certificate to their credentials. Current undergraduate enrollment is 2,143. The East Carolina University program described below has 100% participation by its college of business students. However, it is not feasible to expect that many of our students to complete the required internship. Northern Illinois and UNC-Charlotte report 41 and 50 students in their certificate programs, respectively.
- 3.5 Similar certificate programs offered elsewhere in Kentucky and in other states (including programs at benchmark institutions): The program is similar to programs offered by a number of benchmark institutions, including Indiana State University, "Workplace Professional Skills Certificate"; Northern Illinois University, "Learning and Leadership in the Workplace"; and University of North Carolina at Charlotte, "Career Success Certificate." These programs provide certificate designation for completion of co-curricular activities in conjunction with campus resources, such as Student Affairs or Career Services. Most similar to our design is the "Leadership and Professional Development Program" certificate program offered by East Carolina University, which requires four formal courses in Leadership in addition to co-curricular activities. All students in their college of business complete this certificate.
- 3.6 Relationship of the proposed certificate program to the university mission and objectives: The proposed program is consistent with both the WKU Mission and Strategic Goal 1 identified in Challenging the Spirit. The WKU Mission reads: "...prepares students to be productive, engaged, and socially responsible citizen-leaders of a global society." And, Strategic Goal 1 is "Foster Academic Excellence." Specifically, Objective 1.5 is "Prepare Student for Lifelong Learning and Success." We believe that reinforcing the importance of highly valued soft-skills and professional preparedness positively impacts our efforts to produce successful WKU graduates and is consistent with WKU's mission and objectives.

5. Budget implications:

All participating departments have been contacted. Existing staffing within the disciplines and career services are sufficient for our first few years. However, we anticipate that with growth in the program, additional resources will be needed in some academic areas as well as the Center for Career and Professional Development to meet the needs of our students in enrolled in this undergraduate certificate.

1. Identification of program:

- 1.1 Current program reference number: 774
- 1.2 Current program title: Science and Mathematics Education
- 1.3 Credit hours: 34

2. Identification of the proposed program changes:

The Science and Math Education (SMED) major may be completed only by students seeking certification as middle grades or secondary grades science or mathematics teachers. Each student must also meet all the requirements to earn a science or mathematics content major in addition to the SMED major. The SMED program is a shared program involving faculty from the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences and the Ogden College of Science and Engineering. Oversight of the SMED program are the responsibility of the SKyTeach Program Curriculum Committee, and SMED courses are administered through the School of Teacher Education within the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences.

The proposed program change includes the addition of SMED 310, Knowing and Learning in Mathematics and Science and the deletion of SMED 210, Knowing and Learning in Mathematics and Science.

- 1.2 Current program title: Major in Middle Level Education Social Studies and Language Arts

2. Identification of the proposed program changes:

- A) As part of the new Colonnade Program, the WKU History Department’s Western Civilization Courses (HIST 119/HIST 120) will be replaced with World History (HIST 101/102). The Middle Level Education in Social Studies and Language Arts major (Concentration 1) and Single Area Teacher Certification in Middle Level Social Studies (Concentration 2) are being revised to reflect that change.
- B) Given that ENG 404 is seldom offered and both students & advisors frequently have to complete a course substitution for ENG 404, we propose to revise the Single Area Teacher Certification in Middle Level Language Arts/Communication (Concentration 3) by deleting ENG 404 as a requirement and replace the requirement to be any 300 or 400 level ENG course.

4. Rationale for the proposed program changes:

- A) In the fall 2014 semester, as part of the Colonnade Program, the WKU History Department will replace HIST 119/120 with HIST 101/102. This program revision will bring the Middle Level Education in Social Studies and Language Arts major (Concentration 1) and Single Area Teacher Certification in Middle Level Social Studies (Concentration 2) in line with that change in the curriculum.
- B) The removal of ENG 404 as a strict requirement for the Single Area Teacher Certification in Middle Level Education Language Arts/Communication will allow students and advisors more flexibility in regards to ENG course selection.

For those with National Registry of EMTs certification as a Paramedic (NREMTP) WKU will award the student 40 block semester hours for current ~~National~~ Certification as a Paramedic after completion of ~~25~~ semester hours of ~~specified~~ major and general education classes. Most of the required general education courses can be taken either through correspondence or the Internet. The objective of the associate degree completion in Paramedicine is to afford Paramedics the opportunity to increase their professional qualifications through acquiring the general education background. The Paramedic student will bring the occupational or career competencies with them through the certification process. Academic subjects necessary to complete the general education requirements include standard liberal arts courses and course work useful to health care providers. This combination will provide the degree candidate a solid educational foundation compatible with and complementary to their occupational skills and status. The associate degree completion in Paramedicine is valued as a means of increasing general knowledge, critical thinking skills, and professionalism within the career field.

If not certified as a Paramedic, 40-42 hours of Allied Health (~~AH~~) Paramedicine academic course work and ~~25~~ hours of additional courses to fulfill major and general education requirements must be completed. Completion of the course work leads to eligibility to sit for the Paramedicine licensure exam for Kentucky. The 40 - 42 hours of AH courses include: AH 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, and 111.

The ~~25~~ hours of additional courses required for both certified Paramedics (degree completion) as well as those NOT certified as a Paramedic include: the major courses of BIOL 131, COMM 145 ~~or 161~~, and ~~HED 247C~~; support courses of PSY 100, ~~SOCL 100~~, MATH 109; and other general education classes ~~of~~

For those with National Registry of EMTs certification as a Paramedic (NREMTP), or US state or territory Paramedic certification/licensure, WKU will award the student 40 block semester hours for current certification as a Paramedic after completion of 20 semester hours of major, general education classes, and electives. Most of the required general education courses can be taken either through correspondence or the Internet. If not certified as a Paramedic, 40-42 hours of Allied Health Paramedicine academic course work and 20 hours of additional courses to fulfill major and general education/degree requirements must be completed. 4. Rationale for the proposed program change:

- Math 116 a required prerequisite for the BSN prelicensure program that was inadvertently removed from the required curriculum when program revision was approved in October 2013. Math 116 needs to be added back to the pre-nursing prerequisite as an admission requirement for the BSN program.

5. Proposed term for implementation: Fall 2014

1. Identification of program:

1.1 Current program reference number: 592

- 1.2 Current program title: Major in Social Studies
- 1.3 Credit hours: 60

2. Identification of the proposed program changes: As part of the new Colonnade Program, the department’s Western Civilization Courses (HIST 119/HIST 120) will be replaced with World History (HIST 101/HIST 102). The Social Studies major is being revised to reflect that change.

3. Detailed program description*:

The following is provided as a model for presenting program revision information.

Proposed Program

The major in social studies requires a minimum of 60 semester hours and leads to a Bachelor of Arts degree. Students completing this major may become eligible for teacher certification in social studies. Students with a major in social studies receive a 12-hour waiver in the upper-division hour requirement in the major field. The courses required are distributed as follows: History: 27 hours, including HIST 119, 120, 240,241, and 498. The remaining 12 hours must be upper-division hours and must include a course from each of the following areas: United States History, European History to 1648, European History since 1648, and Areas other than Europe and the United States. Political Science: 9 hours, including PS 110, PS 250 or 260, and an upper-division elective chosen from the following: PS 310, PS 316, PS 326, PS 327, PS 328, and PS 370. Economics: 6 hours, including ECON 202 and 203. Geography: 9 hours, including GEOG 110; and two of the following GEOG 350, 360 426, 430. Anthropology, Psychology and Sociology: 9 hours including ANTH 120, PSY 100 and SOCL 100.	The major in social studies requires a minimum of 60 semester hours and leads to a Bachelor of Arts degree. CE Current Program:

Students must have a grade of “C” or better in:

- All CE courses including technical electives (except for one (1) CE 400 level course), and
- EM 221 or 222: Statics, and EM 302 or 303: Mechanics of Deformable Solids.

CE Proposed Program:

Students must have a grade of “C” or better in:

- All math courses,
- All premajor courses,
- All CE courses including technical electives (except for one (1) CE 400-level course),
- EM 302 or 303 Mechanics of Deformable Solids, and
- MATH 237 Multivariable Calculus, MATH 331 Differential Equations and STAT 301 Probability and Statistics if taken.

4. Rationale for the proposed program change:

- Delete ENGR 175 University Experience-Engineering (1 hr).

This one credit course is not needed for students pursuing a major in civil engineering. If a student would like to take a University Experience course with or without an engineering component (CE 175 or UE 175), the civil engineering program faculty and department feel that this should be optional and not required.

- Delete ECON 202 Microeconomics (3 hr).

Concepts in economics important to civil engineering students will be covered in other engineering courses.

- Add GEOL 111 The Earth (3 hrs) and GEOL 113 The Earth Laboratory (1 hr).

This course and lab used to be required of the “pre-major” in civil engineering. However, the course and lab were removed as part of the “pre-major” requirement several years ago. Civil engineering students were still required to take this course and lab since they were prerequisites for CE 410 Soil Mechanics (3 hrs). The civil engineering program faculty and the department would like to formally add these to the major so that the total credit hours for the degree will reflect all courses/labs to be taken.

- Students must earn a grade of “C” or better in MATH 237 Multivariable Calculus (4 hr) and MATH 331 Differential Equations (3 hr).

Currently, students can earn a grade of “D” or better in either or both of these math courses. The civil engineering program faculty and department feel that a grade of “C” or better is necessary so that civil engineers students can more adequately apply advanced mathematical concepts and solution techniques to engineering problems seen in junior and senior level engineering coursework.

- Give students the option of taking the new course CE 305 Risk Analysis (3 hrs) or STAT 301 Probability and Statistics (3 hrs), which is currently a required course. A grade of “C” or better is required in either course.

Requiring a grade of “C” or better in CE 305 Risk Analysis is consistent with the current requirement that all civil engineering students must get a “C” or better in all CE prefixed courses and technical electives (except for one (1) CE 400 level course where a grade of “D” may be earned). Requiring a grade of “C” or better in STAT 301 Probability and Statistics is consistent with the proposed change that students earn a “C” or better in all math courses.

Allowing students to take CE 305 Risk Analysis or STAT 301 Probability or Statistics will allow students greater flexibility and choice in scheduling of classes.
