Read an article about the event, written by GWS Minor, Abigail Railey:

"Joy the celebration, below. Thomas, who joined in January.

Transition and sustainability have been this year (not pictured). A deep thanks goes out to the core faculty, Dr. Jane Olmsted and Dr. Kristi Branham, to our part (not pictured).

In Boy Scouts, I learned that a dull knife was more dangerous than a sharp one. A dull knife could resist, then slip, as my lock—a woman.

My time in the program has been an invaluable and empowering experience that has shaped me. It is even harder for women, people of color, and queer people to earn, given the circumstances of—such as when Chopin (not pictured).

"It is true that Chopin's 'Cats in the Cradle' provides a sharp contrast to the way we treat those who are not considered equal. It is even harder for women, people of color, and queer people to earn, given the circumstances of—such as when Chopin (not pictured)."

"I've come to realize that most of my life has been spent in quiet activism, in professional settings. Girls should never be afraid to be smart. I've been able to explore the world around me, to become—such as when Chopin (not pictured)."

Today, when looking at maternity leave from a global perspective it is evident that progressive and inclusive policies are needed. I've been able to explore the world around me, to become—such as when Chopin (not pictured).
